Step-by-Step Instructions

STEP	ACTION	DETAILS & FIELD GUIDANCE
1	Log in to Workday	Navigate to your organization's Workday URL or open the Workday mobile app. Enter your network username and password. Complete multi-factor authentication if prompted.
2	Open the Time Off worklet	On the Workday Home page, locate the Time Off worklet. Click it to open the Time Off dashboard. Worklet appearance may vary by tenant. If you don't see it on your home page, use the Workday search bar and type Time Off .
3	Click "Request"	On the Time Off dashboard, locate and select the option to submit a new request — this is typically labeled Request or similar. This opens the Time Off request calendar view. Button placement and label may vary by tenant configuration.
4	Select your time off dates	Click on the start date of your time off on the calendar. To select multiple consecutive days, click each day individually or use the click-and-drag method if available in your tenant. Selected days will highlight to indicate they are chosen. For partial-day requests, look for a Daily Quantity or hours option to enter specific hours per day.
5	Click "Request" to confirm selection	After selecting your dates, confirm your selection by clicking the action button that appears — typically labeled Request or OK depending on your tenant. The system will open the Time Off request entry form.
6	Select Time Off Type

		In the Type field *, click the dropdown and select the appropriate leave type (e.g., Vacation, Sick, Personal, Bereavement). Only leave types you are eligible for will appear. Contact HR if an expected type is missing.
7	Verify daily hours	Workday will auto-populate your scheduled hours per day in the Daily Quantity field. For partial days, manually update the number of hours. Confirm totals match your intended absence.
8	Add a comment (optional)	Use the Comments field to add context for your manager — for example, coverage arrangements, urgency, or details about a medical appointment. Comments are visible to your manager and HR.
9	Submit the request	Review all details for accuracy, then click Submit . A confirmation message will appear indicating your request has been sent. Your manager will receive an automatic notification to review and approve your request — notification method (email, Workday inbox) may vary by your organization's configuration.
10	Confirm submission & track status	Return to the Time Off worklet at any time to view your request status: Pending (awaiting approval), Approved , or Denied . You will also receive an email notification when your manager takes action.

TIPS & BEST PRACTICES

- › Submit requests as early as possible to give your manager adequate planning time
- › Check your available balance before submitting — displayed on the Time Off dashboard
- › For multi-week requests, verify each day's hours if your schedule varies
- › If your time off spans a holiday, the holiday will be excluded automatically
- › You can retract a pending request before it is approved by clicking Retract from your Time Off dashboard
- › Save a copy of your confirmation for your records

⚠ COMMON ISSUES & SOLUTIONS

- › Leave type not appearing: You may not be eligible for that leave type. Contact HR to verify your eligibility
- › Insufficient balance: Your request will be flagged if your accrued balance is below the requested hours. Contact your manager or HR for options
- › Dates not selectable: A company blackout period may be in effect. Contact your manager for guidance
- › Request stuck in Pending: Follow up with your manager directly. Requests do not auto-approve
- › Cannot retract: Once approved, contact your manager to cancel the approved time off
